

NAVY BACKFIELD RAKES OFF PAR WITH GREAT LINE

Barchet and Noyes Among Fleetest Stars in the East Georgia's Showing Against Harvard Proves Surprise—Virginia Staging Real "Comeback" This Year.

By JACK NYE.

It's a rare week-end that fails to bring its share of gridiron surprises, and Saturday was no exception; but the worst case of shell shock may be found in the somber camp of the Princeton Tigers, where the angels among the monarchs are painfully rousing themselves to ask, "Who hit me?"

It is something new for the Tigers, even with two of their stars missing, to be made a show of by the Navy team, which has been so often the victim of the Princeton offense failed to register the required 10 yards for a single first down. Thrown back in the line, they tried to make an end, with the same result. Then an attack was opened, with the net result that Navy converted the passes into ground gains for the first time in the game.

Nothing was left for the New Jersey team to do but sprout wings and fly, and a hasty roll-call reveals the fact that the Princeton line is nothing to be sneezed at, with such stars as Keck, Wittmer and Hooper on deck, but the raw-boned forwards of the Navy found time to sneeze with impunity. Princeton's line was outplayed decisively. Clyde King, of the million-dollar toe, and Bolles proved themselves to be a pair of tilters of the Princeton strategy. Each figured in the scoring. King with his two field goals and Bolles with his blocked punt which Carney recovered behind the goal line.

Navy Backs are Wonders.

The might of the Navy line was so surprise, having served as "copy" since early last season, but the speed and power of the backfield was something of an eye-opener. Fowell has a set of backfield this year that will rank with the best in the country. Vic Noyes and Steve Barchet played dazzlingly fast and frequent dashes around the ends. McKee and Koehler were also difficult to stop and hold. McKee, Cruise, Conroy and Hamilton are men of unusual ability.

A strong line usually makes any backfield look good, but this does not detract from the great broken field running of Noyes and Barchet. They are two gentlemen to be watched when all-American jobs are handed out.

Only in one department did Princeton have an edge. Van Gerbig's punts were long and well placed, while those of Barchet were ordinary. Given a good punter and the Middies would appear to be almost perfect.

Navy now looms as one of the strongest candidates for titular honor. The team has nothing to worry about in its remaining games until it meets Penn State in Philadelphia on November 12. That will be a classic struggle should Besdek's team be able to defeat Harvard, Georgia Tech and Pittsburgh in the interim. That's a big "if." After the Penn State game, Navy has plenty of time to prepare for the annual clash with Army at the Polo Grounds.

Join for Fair Harvard.

There must have been some feeling of disappointment at Cambridge where the Georgia "Bulldogs" gave Harvard a merry battle and lost by a 10-to-7 score. Georgia was reported to be heavy with the win, but was not expected to hold the Crimson so close. A fumble punt gave Harvard its chance to score a touchdown and Buell's toe added the 3 points later that brought victory. Georgia scored on a well executed forward pass in the last period. The defense of the Southerners was surprising.

Syracuse added another game to its unblemished list by trouncing Brown 28 to 0, and is beginning to take on the appearance of a very powerful machine. It will enter the game a favorite over Pittsburgh Saturday at Pittsburgh, and is expected to come through its season undefeated.

Yale had no trouble in disposing of Williams in a game in which Aldrich again showed his ability to gallop through a broken field. The Elis are showing signs of coming back with a vim this year and will face their first real test with Army Sunday. With Harvard and Princeton behind them, the team is in a class, this may be Yale's big year to land the Big Three honors.

Southern Teams Play Well.

Georgia's showing against Harvard was the best of any Southern team that invaded the East, though Washington and Lee gave Rutgers a great fight and only lost 14 to 13 when the New Brunswick team scored two touchdowns on forward passes in the final period. Tennessee fumbled frequently in its game with Dartmouth and succumbed, 14 to 3.

Virginia's victory over the "Flying Cadets" of V. M. I. at Lexington overshadowed the game between South Atlantic section and indicates that the Orange and Blue is rapidly returning to the place in the football world it held several years ago. St. Michael's has turned out a powerful eleven.

Maryland's defeat at the hands of St. John's of Annapolis, the first in many years, can be credited to the far too ambitious schedule adopted by the College Parkers this year. Coming through the Rutgers game in good shape, Byrd's eleven was completely exhausted by the game with Dartmouth and succumbed, 14 to 3.

Georgetown had an easy time with Westminster, outclassing their opponents in every department and probably received less benefit from the game than they have been had in a scrimmage on the Hilltop. The Blue and Gray will be in good condition for its first big game with Holy Cross next Saturday.

George Washington did itself proud in a 7-to-0 win with Williams and Mary, a fast team which held V. P. I. to two touchdowns. The Hatchettes are evidently developing into a real football machine. Catholic University nosed out Mount St. Mary's 10-to-0 score in a hard fought game, though repeated-

WASHINGTON PROS 33-10-7 VICTORS OVER LANCASTER

Work of 'Whitey' Lukens Features Defeat of Keystone Staters.

Washington's fast aggregation of pigskin chasers annexed its second victory of the season yesterday at the Lancaster Athletic Association, when the visitors' lone touchdown was the result of a break, and not through any real ground gaining.

Coach Hegarty's lads outplayed the Keystone Staters in every department of the game, although in the last quarter the visitors uncorked a series of forward passes which had Tim Jordan's gang on the run.

The outstanding feature of the locals' play yesterday was the manner in which "Whitey" Lukens, the former Lafayette and Swarthmore star, hit the visitors' line. Assistant Coach Sullivan also showed well again yesterday, while Anderson, Mackert, Walson, Van Meter, McCarthy, Crouch and Caplan played their usual clever games. Henry Harris, the former West Virginia star, appeared for the first time yesterday and displayed all of his old-time speed and pep.

'Babe' Starts Baseball War By Playing Exhibition Game

By C. M. WAGNER.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 16.—War between two of the biggest figures in baseball is on. "Babe" Ruth, the mighty hero of swat, today defied Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, and appeared in an exhibition game here. With Ruth appeared Bob Meusel and Piercy.

The three appeared with a makeshift team in opposition to a semi-pro club and before 2,500 fans. Ruth, standing in the hero role by knocking out a home run with two on base and winning 4 to 2.

Outside of the "Babe's" appearance it was just a regular ball game. Ruth was appearing without full knowledge of what consequences it might follow. He was expelled this afternoon when he made the following statement:

"I am doing this with full knowledge of what it may mean as a consequence. I believe I am right, and that it is time a move of this kind was made for the first time. I am interested in organized baseball as served when a man gives them full effort and carries out every phase of his contract for the season's play. I am not interested in the world series, why should I or any other player be kept from earning money? In no other business or fair, unjust, one-sided rule tolerated and I claim such arbitrary rule and restrictions do not belong to baseball."

"I have done my full duty to the Yankee ball club and Meigs, Huston and Huppert. I have done my full duty by the American League for the season of 1921. Myself and my mates were in there fighting our heads off to beat Cleveland, and I myself was playing the outfield and giving all I had when I should have been in bed. But we wanted to win the pennant for ourselves, for Huggins and for Huppert, Huston and Barrow. We did win the pennant, and then we did the best we could in the world series, and when it was announced, Judge Landis declared it was against baseball law and I must not play. That, I contend, is not within his jurisdiction, is unjust, unfair and unlawful."

"As last year I had consented to play a number of exhibition games, and when it was announced, Judge Landis declared it was against baseball law and I must not play. That, I contend, is not within his jurisdiction, is unjust, unfair and unlawful."

"I do not care to anticipate what Judge Landis may do. I am not worrying. I think the public will be with me. When a man does his full duty, what more can he ask? I have the American right to my own liberty and to settle favorable opportunities to add to my income. Can Judge Landis abridge that right? I do not think so."

Commence Play for District and Columbia Golf Titles This Week

By GORDON SHAND.

With the annual district championship tournament on the program of the Chevy Chase Club on Thursday and Friday, and with the qualifying rounds of Columbia's club championship affair listed for today, Thursday and Friday, District golfers are in for the busiest week of the fall season.

Columbia's championship division, open to members with handicaps of 12 or less, will hold its qualifying round at 35 holes this morning, the first pair teeing off at 9 o'clock. There are sixteen entrants, including most of the regular crack cranks of the club. The second and third divisions will undoubtedly have much larger entry lists.

Following is a list of today's pairings and starting times:

9:00—Harry Wardman and M. B. Stevenson.

9:05—D. K. Jackson, and E. B. Eyring.

9:10—G. P. James and J. W. Brawner.

9:15—Donald Woodward and A. R. McKensie.

9:20—H. F. Lowman and Hugh Saum.

9:25—Harold Simms and S. B. Pyle.

9:30—J. C. Davidson and A. S. Mattingly.

9:35—Guy Standifer and Lieut. Comdr. W. W. Smith.

The second division, open to those with handicaps over 12 and including 18, will hold its qualifying round of 18 holes on Friday. The qualifying round for the third division, open to those with handicaps of over 18, will be held on Friday, also at 18 holes.

Final round play for all divisions will be held on October 25, second round on October 27, and final round on November 1.

Play for District Title.

Thirty-six holes of medal play on Thursday and the same double round jaunt on Friday will comprise the program of the District championship at Chevy Chase. Entries close tomorrow at 6 p. m. and should be submitted with a check for $2.50, the entrance fee, to W. C. Barr, secretary, District Golf Association, care of the Chevy Chase Club.

In addition, the 72-hole scores turned in during this tournament by Chevy Chase members will appear in the Horstman Cup competition, emblematic of the Chevy Chase Club championship.

There will be a new District champion this year. Bobby Finkenstaedt, the present title holder, is now totaling in Akron, Ohio, and will not be on hand. The upsets which featured Columbia's fall tournament, would seem to indicate that some dark horse is liable to crowd his way in and top the list this week.

The first round of match play for the championship of the Washington Golf Club, together with the first round of the Birney Cup competition, was completed yesterday.

Following are the results in the championship play:

J. C. Davidson defeated C. G. Duganne, 1 up, 19 holes.
